DETAILED ACTION

1. The following Office Action is based on Application No. 10/662,794, filed on September 15, 2003, which is a continuation of PCT/DE02/00549, filed on February 15, 2002 and claiming priority from a foreign application filed on March 15, 2001; having claims 1-4 and a single figure.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement filed on April 22, 2004 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each cited foreign patent document; each non-patent literature publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

The non-patent literature entitled "Bus Systems – Parallel and Serial Bus Systems in Theory and in Practice" has not been considered because applicant fails to provide an English copy of the document.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Clark et al. (US 5,425,022).

A data bus operated in a multiplex mode and connected to the control station and to the reception station (data bus 1 in Figure 1); and

A control bus connected to the control station and to the reception station, and through the control bus, the control station allocating a logical channel (see logical channel in Figure 1) to the reception station (column 1, lines 53-66 wherein a logical channel is allocated to the reception station).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clark et al. (US 5,425,022) in view of Ezell et al. (US 6,674,853 B1).

Clark discloses the entire claimed invention except soliciting the reception station through the control bus by calling the logical channel at a same time or before the transfer of the data.

Ezell, from the same or similar field of endeavor, sending a request to the reception station through a control bus (element 214 in Fig 2) for establishing a logical channel prior to data transfer (column 5, lines 28-33, column 5, line 65 to column 6, line 10).

Thus, it would have been obvious to someone of ordinary skill in the art to combine the logical channel allocation method of Ezell with the communication network of Clark at the time of the invention. The logical channel method of Ezell is implemented into the communication network of Clark by sending a request to the reception station prior to data transfer. The motivation to combine the logical channel method of Ezell with the communication network of Clark is that it provides an efficient mechanism to operate a data bus in a multiplex mode.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mukaihara et al. (US 6,522,660 B1) and Landaveri et al. (US 2003/0103508 A1) are cited to show systems pertinent to applicant's invention.

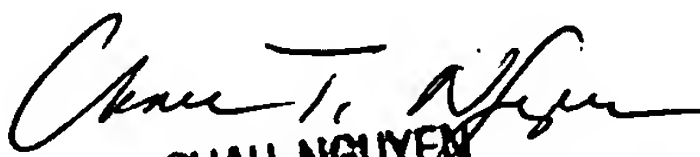

Mukaihara discloses a channel reservation system and method. Ladanveri discloses a multiple node network architecture.
